AREA 2

Indoor demonstrations

9.30-10.00

MAXIMISING TRAPPING EFFICIENCY

Michael Sims, Bell Labs

Learn how new technologies and smarter approaches can enhance trapping efficiency and keep your pest control efforts effective.

11.45-12.15

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI) IN PEST CONTROL: THREAT OR OPPORTUNITY?

Jan Smits, PestScan

We will explore whether AI is reshaping the landscape of pest control. Is it a threat to traditional methods or does AI give us tools to monitor, predict, and manage pest populations?

13.15-13.45

USES AND APPLICATIONS OF THERMAL IMAGERY IN PEST CONTROL

John Stewart, Pelsis

Here we go through different situations where thermal imaging cameras have added valuable insight into a pest problem.

10.15-10.45

LED: THE DIFFERENTIATOR

Rob Simpson, Killgerm Chemicals

Killgerm will talk about PestWest Quantum X LED bulbs, and how they are different from others in the market. We will show how to safely install and service the Quantum LED range.

12.30-13.00

USING THE RIGHT TRAP FOR THE RIGHT INSECT: WORLD OF PHEROMONES, THEIR USE AND CORRECT PLACEMENT

Sophie Thorogood, Pelsis

Insects use odour and smell to perceive their environment and to communicate with other insects and animals. Here we look at pest management tools that have been developed with odour in mind to attract, suppress and manage different insect pests.

14.00-15.30

INSECT ID DROP IN-CLINIC

Paul Westgate, Veritas Pest Consultancy

Self-declared insect nerd, Paul Westgate, will help pest controllers develop their identification skills. You can also bring your own insect samples to be identified.

BRING IN YOUR OWN INSECT SAMPLES

11.00-11.30

DEER AND GREY SQUIRREL MANAGEMENT

Rob Newton, BASC

Learn about wildlife management, in particular the control and management of deer and grey squirrels.

THERE'S MORE!
SEE OVER!

Indoor seminars

Our 100-seat silent indoor seminar theatre employs headphones so you won't miss a single word of the presenters. Get there early to make sure you get a good seat!

9.30-10.15

I JUST DON'T WANNA! BEHAVIOURAL RESISTANCE AND HOW TO TACKLE IT

Alex Wade, BASF

We've all heard about chemical resistance, but how do we control rodents when they just don't eat the bait at all? What happens when their very behaviour becomes a barrier to success.

10.30-11.15

RODENTS WITHOUT RODENTICIDES: ARE WE HEADED FOR RODENTAGEDDON?

Dr Vicky Caulfield, Precision Pest

Dr Caulfield will look at the potential shift away from the use of rodenticides and how it could impact us as an industry. Touching on glue board usage, how losing rodenticides will be perceived by the public at large and how other countries have handled such changes in legislations and restrictions on use of rodenticides.

11.30-12.15

BED BUGS UNCOVERED: BIOLOGY, IMMUNITY, AND MENOPAUSE

Dr Will Hentley, University of Sheffield

Understanding bed bug biology is key to improving pest management strategies. This talk will take a deep dive into Cimex lectularius, moving from the cellular and immune mechanisms that help them survive, through their reproductive strategies, and up to their distribution across cities. It will also cover research on how bed bugs fight off infections and evidence that female bed bugs go through a menopause. This talk will also explore how better collaboration between researchers and pest controllers could lead to more effective, practical solutions.

13.30-14.15

ANTICOAGULANT RODENTICIDE RESISTANCE IN RATS AND MICE

John Horsley, BPCA

To be able to successfully control rodents we need to understand their resistance to rodenticides and how it will affect your treatment. It's important to remember different areas of the UK will also have resistance issues to active ingredients we use. In this presentation, John Horsley explores the history of rodenticides, physiological resistance and the location of resistant strains in the UK and further afield.

12.30-13.15

ASHES TO ASHES, DUST TO DUST: LIFE AFTER BENDIOCARB

Paul Westgate, Veritas Pest Consultancy

Using our professional knowledge to handle wasp control now the commonly favoured bendiocarb dust is no longer an option.

14.30-15.15

CONTROL, MONITOR OR SUPPRESS: WHAT ARE INSECT LIGHT TRAPS FOR?

Tom Holmes, Tom Holmes Consulting

Insect Light Traps, (often referred to as 'flykillers' – we'll talk about that!), are a fantastic tool to help combat the public health risks of flying insects. But what are they actually for? Are they to control flying insects, to monitor their activity or simply to keep their numbers in check? During this session we'll review what ILTs actually are and how they can be used, along with how to assess an environment to understand the nature of the problem and go in with eyes open as to what role the ILTs are actually there to do.

Outdoor demonstrations

Back by popular demand! We'll be getting outside (and not just to take in the beautiful countryside). We'll be hosting some practical pest management demonstrations. We've teamed up with some great speakers who know their topics through-and-through, and are happy to share their expertise with visitors.

9.30-10.15

HONEY BEE WELFARE, DURING AND POST-REMOVAL

Clive Stewart,
Westart Apiaries

Long established bee remover and author of "Guide to safe removal of honey bees from buildings" Clive Stewart talks about the care of honey bees during and post removal and relocation. Whilst honey bees situated inside properties are considered feral the moment they are moved they become classed as livestock and as such will need to be treated with a level of care to improve both their survival rate and potential condition. Clive will discuss factors surrounding the care of honey bees during the removal process and what you should be considering post removal.

10.30-11.15

THE DIFFERENCES, ADVANTAGES AND TIPS ON INSTALLING LEDGE EDGE PRODUCTS TO DETER BIRDS

Mark Wenman, Pelsis

During this fun and informative hands-on session Mark will take you through bird deterrent spikes; birdwire; electric; gels and other new systems. We will discuss the advantages of each system, what bird pressure they are appropriate for, and Mark will share tips and advice from his 30 years experience. There will be interactive models of each main system so you can try each and practice. No experience is required. Experienced installers may take away some nuggets of bird wisdom too!

12.30-13.15

UPPING YOUR GAME - MODERN RABBIT MANAGEMENT

Simon Whitehead,
Pakefield Ferrets

It's time to forget about using tradition as an excuse and move with the times. A large percentage of rabbit jobs may appear straightforward but in a diminishing island, a lot of them are now in sensitive environments or in unfamiliar and untraditional surrounding. To make sure you get the job done, and efficiently, your mindset and outlook might need a timely reboot. The world of rabbit management has changed a lot within the last decade and Simon will cover in detail what has and hasn't worked for him in a result-driven industry. For over forty years he has practiced ferreting; twenty-five working for himself on some of the most sensitive and pressurised sites in and around the UK.

11.30-12.15

RAT INFESTATION BECOMING A DRAIN? THE SOLUTION COULD BE UNDERFOOT: TIME TO GET HANDS ON!

Darron Pearce,
Ratrraxs Pest Control

Using his 30+ years of industry experience Darron will be talking about drain surveys, how to identify and tackle drainage issues, how using cameras and the correct equipment can guide a pest controller swiftly through a drainage inspection and solve the rodent issues presented. Darron will give a hands-on talk involving lots of products and techniques he has worked with over the years.

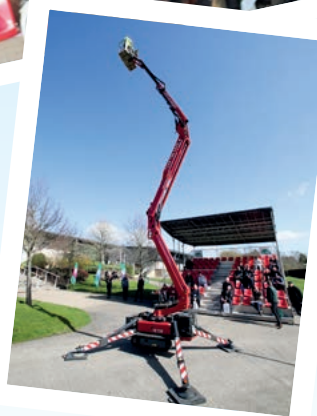

13.30-14.30

THE EFFECTIVE USE OF DRONE TECHNOLOGY IN ASSESSING WILDLIFE POPULATIONS

Rob Newton, BASC

We will run a series of drone demonstrations highlighting the effective use of technology in assessing wildlife population through the use of drone technology.

Exhibitor profiles

With more than 50 exhibitors from the world of pest management and beyond, you'll get to spend the day meeting the people designing and distributing the latest pest control technology.

Make the most of your visit

You've got around 12 hours of seminars and demos available, plus networking and exhibitors to see, and only seven hours to fit it all in. So let's get planning!

PPC LIVE PRE-SHOW CHECKLIST

REGISTER TODAY

Beat the queues for admission by pre-registering online. It takes less than two minutes and you'll get a free breakfast roll and hot drink on arrival! ppconline.org/register

PLUS 1...AND THEN SOME

Make a day of it and invite some pestie pals. If you're the boss, schedule it as a team building session and bring the whole gang! It adds value to your business in many ways.

CHECK OUT THE LOCAL AREA

If you're travelling far, it's worth finding a hotel (there are plenty) and spending some time in beautiful Harrogate. Known for its fabulous gardens, relaxing spas, and a great bar and restaurant scene, why not take advantage while you're here?

TELL THE WORLD

Going to events like this helps show your clients that you're more than just a "rat catcher": you're serious about your profession. Do a social media update, a news item on your website or even pop it on your 'out-of-office'. And while you're doing that...

TIME TO STRATEGISE

The full agenda and exhibitors floor plan are out now so make good use of them. With 50+ exhibitors, seminars, roundtables, and both indoor and outdoor demonstrations, you may need to strategise! Highlight any presentations or exhibitors you really want to visit.

DON'T FORGET TO PACK YOUR BUSINESS CARDS!

Okay, I'll admit, I do this all the time (luckily for me our events manager always brings spares, thanks Lauren!). But events are great for making connections, so have a pocket full of business cards ready to hand out. You never know where the right conversation might lead!
